Website and UX Copy

Name : Angel Londhe

Portfolio Piece 02 : Homepage, Plans, FAQ and Microcopy

Brand concept and copy

The Third Desk, Bengaluru

The business	A coworking space in Indiranagar, Bengaluru. 120 seats over two floors, two meeting rooms, a quiet floor and a small café on the ground floor.
Who it's for	Freelancers, people who work from home, and small teams of two to five. Mostly people whose home has slowly turned into their office.
The problem	Most coworking websites sound the same. The owner wanted words that feel like you're being welcomed by a person, not sold to by a company.
The ask	Homepage, plans, FAQ, and the small words people see while using the site: buttons, errors, empty screens and the 404 page.

Homepage

HERO

First thing you see

Your bedroom was never meant to be a boardroom.

The Third Desk is a coworking space in Indiranagar with fast internet, comfortable chairs and good coffee. Spend your first day with us for free, and stay if it feels right.

Book a free day | See the space

THE NAME

Short intro

Why "third" desk?

The first desk was in an office. The second one became your dining table. This is the third desk. A place that's only for work, so that home can go back to being home.

WHAT'S HERE

Four tiles

Internet you can count on.
Two connections and a backup, so your call doesn't drop in the middle of something important.

A quiet floor.
The second floor is kept for focused work. No calls, no music. Just people getting things done.

Meeting rooms by the hour.

Two rooms with a screen, a whiteboard and enough chairs for everyone.

The café downstairs.

Filter coffee all day, idli till 11, and Ravi, who will remember your order by your third visit.

MEMBERS

What people say

This space is saved for real words from real members. Here are the three questions I'd ask them:

- Where were you working before you came here?
- What's one small thing here you'd miss if you left?
- If a friend asked you about this place, what would you tell them?

The second question usually brings the best answers. People rarely say "the community". They say "the window seat" or "Ravi's coffee", and that's what makes a new visitor believe it.

CLOSING

Last nudge

Come for a day. It's on us.

Bring your laptop and see how it feels. No forms to fill, and no pressure to sign up.

Book a free day

Plans page

Headline: Pay only for the days you come in.

Day Pass	Flexi 10	Your Own Desk	Team Cabin
₹499	₹4,500	₹7,999	Let's talk
For days when home gets too noisy. A desk, internet and your first coffee on us.	Per month. For people who come in two or three days a week. Any desk, any ten days.	Per month. The same desk every day. Leave your monitor, your notebook and your plant. We'll water it on Sundays.	A private room for teams of four to eight. Tell us what you need and we'll work it out together.

FAQ

Can I see the place before I pay?

Of course. Your first day is free. Just bring an ID and your laptop.

Is there parking?

Bike parking in the basement is free. We have six car spots, given on a first come basis.

What are the timings?
If you have your own desk, you can come in any time, day or night. Everyone else is welcome from 8 am to 10 pm, Monday to Saturday.

Can I take calls?
Yes, on the ground floor and in our two phone booths. The second floor is kept quiet for focused work, so we ask that calls happen downstairs.

Can I bring my dog?
We have a resident cat named Biscuit, so please check with us first. We'll do our best to make it work for everyone.

Microcopy

WHERE IT SHOWS UP	WHAT IT SAYS
Booking button	Book my desk
Booking confirmed	You're all set. See you on Thursday. Your desk will be ready when you walk in.
Email error	Please check your email address. It looks like something is missing.
Phone error	Please enter your 10 digit mobile number so we can reach you.
No bookings yet	You haven't booked a day yet. Your first one is free whenever you're ready.
Payment failed	Your payment didn't go through, and no money was taken. Please try again with another card or UPI.
404 page	We couldn't find this page. Let's get you back to the homepage.
Newsletter	One email a month about events, new members and what's happening at the space. You can stop it any time.
Cookie banner	We use cookies to understand which pages are useful to you. Okay No thanks

These lines are short and kind on purpose. When something goes wrong, people only want to know two things: what happened, and what to do next.

Voice guide I wrote for the team

We sound like	We don't sound like
A friend who works here and loves it	A brochure for a tech park
Clear: "two connections and a backup"	Vague: "world class connectivity"
Warm, with a light smile now and then	Too clever or sarcastic
Calm and helpful when something goes wrong	Jokey when someone's payment has failed

> The one rule I kept coming back to: every line should help someone picture their day here. "Great coffee" says very little. "Filter coffee all day and idli till 11" lets you imagine your morning, and that's really what the homepage is selling.